Washington Letter.

(From Our Regular Correspondent.) Washington, D. C., Sept 17, 1897.

The Hanna-McKinley combine do not wish Secretary Sherman to take the stump in Ohio; they are afraid that he will say something that ought not to be said, either about the alleged Cuban policy or about the various indiguities which have been Sunday School, and replied that put upon him since he was forced out of the Senate and into the Cabinet. Knowing the old man to possess the stubbornuese characteristic of the Sherman family they have not atfempted to bulidose him into not making specenes in the Ohio cam paign, but attacked him upon his weakest side. For many years Mr. Sherman has been one of the greatest sticklers for a maintenance of the proprieties of official life, and that is what the Ranna-McKinley combine throw of one another in the has been working oo. How much they have impressed the old man may be judged from his reply when asked Eli Gage, a son of the secretary bow soon he was going to Ohio and what part he expected to take in the of the treasury, is said to have campaign.
